Friends,

As you know, lockdown politicians have had our country under their thumb for nearly two years. Their unconstitutional overreach has cost many Americans their jobs, disrupted their children's education, and ultimately, robbed us of our freedoms.

Moreover, we've seen numerous Democrat politicians breaking their own rules, especially mask mandates, while in crowds of people who've been forced to mask up. It's happened so often that it's quite a familiar theme by now. Democrats gleefully take pictures with masked up children, while refusing to put on a mask themselves.

Make no mistake, there is no scientific benefit behind the Left's arbitrary rules, such as forcing masks on kids. Any time Democrats were questioned over the last two years, they simply told us to "follow the science," however elusive that science may be. Ironically, they're trying to use that same phrase to get them out of a political mess of their own making.

This week, it appears that the "science" has magically changed, as blue state governors across the country are relaxing mask mandates all at once.

This would be great news if it was actually true. Many conservatives have been calling for these mandates to be tossed out for two years. But the Left has forced mask mandates in schools without considering the psychosocial damage these policies are having on an entire generation of children. It's unforgivable and will cost them dearly with the American people.

Democrats are just now realizing this after seeing their sagging poll numbers. The American people will not forget the disastrous cost of President Biden and his party's failed policies.

Even CNN is admitting this. Their new polling shows that 75% of Americans are feeling burned out by COVID, another 60% say they are just angry.

To sum up, the “science” hasn’t changed. But the poll numbers sure have.

It’s a tragedy that these mandates could have been lifted two years ago. It’s even worse that in the end it wasn’t school children suffering that spelled the end for these mandates, it was politics.

Now, Democrats, the media, and the deep state bureaucrats are hoping that Americans will just forget everything. But I have a feeling that November will be a rude awakening for the petty tyrants who made our nation suffer. Parents don’t forget.

Do you think Democrats are changing their COVID policies because of the 2022 Midterms?
